This month I'm going to introduce you to Emma and Jake, the hero and heroine of Tangled Tech. They will tell you in their own words their first impressions of each other.

I'm Jake, the ambitious hero, in Tangled Tech. I work on the AI project in Silicon Valley where I compete and fall in love with Emma, the heroine.

Here are my thoughts when I first catch sight of Emma.

Beautiful, but fragile and powerful at the same time. Quite a combination. Petite but curvy with shoulder-length black hair. I could imagine running my fingers through it. She seems serious and very determined. Definitely a woman I want to meet.

Here are my thoughts when I first see Jake.

I like tall men, and he is well over six feet. He has thick wavy brown hair. And he has a close-trimmed beard. I couldn't help but imagine what it would feel like on my face. He looks like he isn't a stranger to the gym either. A nice-looking man.

As for myself. I am hard at work completing the third book in the Silicon Valley romance series, Digital Destiny: Love and Tenacity in Silicon Valley. It is a novel about a technology startup company and a second chance romance.

I want to extend a thank you to all veterans.

I hope you enjoy Memorial Day.

Happy Reading,
